Two Good Horses Take First Money.

Oyama and Uneeda, two horses of J. L. Butt, Esq., gave a good account of themselves at the Carlisle Fair on Thursday and Friday of last week.

On the first day Oyama went in 2:30 race, purse $300 and took first money in three straight heats, time 2:23 1-2, 2:20 1-4 and 2:20 1-4.

On the last day Uneeda started in 2:16 race, purse $300 and six heats were necessary to conclude race. In first three heats Uneeda stood 4, 3 and 2 and then won the race by coming under the wire first in the last three heats, time being 2:15 1-2, 2:16, 2:15 1-4, 2:16 1-2 and 2:15 1-2.

Uneeda has been entered in 2:17 pace at York Fair today, purse $400 and in the free-for-all trot and pace on Thursday, purse $500. Oyama in the 2:20 pace on Friday, purse $400. Precursor in the 2:20 trot on Friday, purse $400. The above are the only Adams county horses so far entered at any of the races at near-by fairs and have taken honors.

Uneeda and D. H. Kelly met with an accident on Saturday at the Carlisle Fair. In the last heat after winning two heats 300 feet from wire, Uneeda tripped and fell and Mr. Kelly was thrown over the animal and had his right shoulder dislocated. The horse was unable to finish the race.

Large Deer Seen.

A large buck deer was seen at the barn yard of William Cashman on the Gilt farm at the cross pikes near New Oxford last week. The morning milking was being done when animal came up to yard, leaped over a wire fence, then passing through a corn field made its way toward the Pigeon Hills.

Big Barn Burned.

The big barn of George Coulson near Round Hill was destroyed by fire on Monday night. The light was plainly visible in Gettysburg about 10 p. m. The barn was a total loss with all contents. The live stock was saved with the exception of one hog.

Kangaroo in South Mountains.

Frank A. Robbins circus and menagerie in going from Waynesboro to Westminster last week met with an accident at Waynesboro Junction. A cage projecting too far came in contact with the station, toppled off the car and broke. A kangaroo and two deer in cage escaped to the South Mountains.

Horse and Buggy Stolen.

On Sunday night a horse and buggy was stolen at Christ's church in Union township. The team was the property of Wm. Frowdeller of the same township. The team was hitched to railing at church while the owner was attending services inside the church. A search that night and on Monday proved fruitless.

AVOID all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses and heals the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and cures Catarrh easily and pleasantly. Cold in the head vanishes quickly. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail.

Catarrh caused difficulty in speaking and to a great extent loss of hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm drooping of mucous has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved. J. W. Davidson, Attorney at Law, Monmouth, Ill.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

A GOOD STRONG TICKET WAS NOMINATED

The Ticket Meets With Great Satisfaction and Support Promised by a Harmonious Democracy.

For weeks there has been great interest in the Democratic County Convention which convened on Monday. From every part of the county came the news that it was to be a Democratic love feast, a free for all candidates in the race. This interest brought many Democrats to town early in the morning and every minute added to the throng, which gathered before convention was called.

When County Chairman Wm. P. Devine called the convention to order at 10:35 a. m., the courtroom was comfortably filled with interested spectators. Nomination for President of convention being called for A. C. Hombach of McSherrystown nominated Dr. A. C. Rice of McSherrystown for the position and election followed. A. A. Miller of York Springs and Wm. Beiler of Mt. Joy were appointed to escort Dr. Rice to the chair which having been done, Dr. Rice said to the convention "I thank you gentlemen for this honor."

Nominations for Vice Presidents being asked for A. A. Miller of York Springs nominated James R. Neely of Huntingdon and David Maring of Cumberland nominated Hon. A. F. White of Freedom township and their election followed and they took seats on either side of the President.

Ed Heltzel then nominated A. H. Parr of Mt. Pleasant and A. J. Guise nominated P. A. T. Bowers of Butler for secretaries and they were duly elected.

Geo. C. Sheely of New Oxford moved the appointment of a committee of five on resolutions and being carried President Rice appointed on that committee Geo. C. Sheely of New Oxford, Elias Fissel of Littlestown, Harry Jacoby of Mt. Pleasant, Geo. W. Griest of York Springs and Geo. Meckley of Tyrone.

Harry Slagle moved the appointment of a committee on credentials and the chair appointed Harry Slagle of Oxford, Geo. C. Bollinger of Conowago, E. H. Plank of Cumberland, Ed. L. Shaffer of East Berlin and W. H. Cromer of Mt. Joy. There were no delegate contests. In Menallen township where John D. Bucher and T. F. Day had a tie vote, giving each a half vote, Mr. Bucher withdrew and Mr. Day cast a full vote.

On roll call it was found that all delegates elected were present with the exception of two detained by late trains.

Nominations for the respective offices was next in order, and were made in following order.

For Sheriff, John J. Adams of Conowago, Harry M. Keller of Arendtsville, Peter P. Eisenhart of East Berlin and L. N. Lightner of Gettysburg.

For Clerk of the Court W. F. Gilliland of Cumberland, Geo. B. Pittenturf of Tyrone and David Thomas of Arendtsville.

Group of Huntingdon, Isaac Pecher of Liberty, N. B. Sprengle of East Berlin, J. Andrew Kane of Franklin and Samuel C. Jacobs of East Berlin.

For County Auditor, Samuel Bair of Union, J. G. Decker of Hamilton, T. Marshall Maring of Cumberland, C. Tilden Myers of Reading and Harry B. Beard of Highland.

A collection was then taken up for Janitor Jacob Kitzmiller.

It was then at 11:15 a. m. and convention hesitated about voting. When it looked as though convention would proceed to ballot, Hon. Edward L. Shaffer of East Berlin moved that the voting for the candidates for the respective offices by the convention this day shall be viva voce. George Meckley of Tyrone township, seconded the motion. A suggestion was made to refer this to Com. on Resolutions. Mr. Sheffer insisted upon convention disposing of it. At this point a motion to adjourn until 1 o'clock was made. Such a motion always being in order carried and candidates were given the additional time for working up their respective interests.

Afternoon Session.

When the afternoon session opened it was apparent that a majority of the Convention was for viva voce voting but there were delegates who seemed to be in a bad humor over it. It was said if Convention intended to adopt such a method it should be known far ahead. For these reasons Hon. Ed. Sheffer withdrew his motion and matter was referred to County Committee.

The amendment to rule adopted by the County Committee at the March meeting and to be submitted to the next County Convention for approval was next considered. The amendment provides as follows:

That the present rule which requires that the County Chairman, Secretary and Treasurer be elected on the 3rd Saturday of March, in each year, be amended so as to read: The Chairman, Secretary and Treasurer of the County Committee shall hereafter be elected by the new County Committee at a meeting called for that purpose within a reasonable time after the nomination of candidates on the county ticket and the candidates nominated shall be invited to be present at said meeting.

This amended rule was carried by a unanimous vote, every Democrat ready to do away with the rule of selecting a County Chairman by an old County Committee having nothing to do with the campaign to be conducted by the County Chairman so selected.

Balloting for the candidates for the respective offices was next in order, the Chair appointing J. Emory Plank and Harry Hombach as tellers. The following was result of ballots:

The Committee on Resolutions then reported the following Resolutions, which were unanimously adopted.

Resolutions.

The Democracy of Adams county in convention assembled do resolve.

That the action of the Democratic State Convention in endorsing the nomination of the State Ticket for the Supreme Court and the placing on its own ticket by the Democracy of Philadelphia the nominees of the City party prove that Democracy is the party of the people and willing to work with all honest citizens for the public good. The refusal of the Republicans of Adams county at their recent convention to endorse the brave and heroic Mayor of Philadelphia, Hon. John Weaver, is persuasive of the oft-repeated assertion that local machine is a part of and in full sympathy with the corrupt and baleful State Penrose organization, a part of which Secretary Root characterized as "a corrupt and criminal combination masquerading under the name of Republicanism."

Wm. H. Berry, our candidate for State Treasurer, is an honest, fearless man, deserving the support of all good citizens and if elected will espouse and correct the abuses growing out of too long continued control of the State Treasury.

The candidates this day nominated earnestly believe that "public office is a public trust," and we hereby pledge them, if elected, to give their best service to the public and not to demand or extort any fees not expressly authorized by law.

BABY TUCKER'S WONDERFUL CURE

Covered from Head to Foot with Humours—Forty Boils on Head at One Time—Doctors and Drug Bills $100—Baby Grew Worse.

CURED BY CUTICURA FOR FIVE DOLLARS

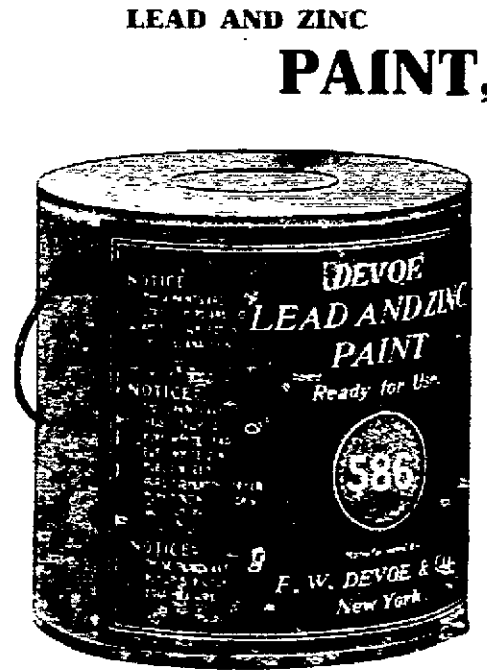

Mrs. George H. Tucker, Jr., 335 Greenfield Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., is a grateful mother. "When six months old," she says, "my little girl weighed a pound and a half less than at birth. When one month old a scab formed on her face, spreading until it completely covered her from head to foot, followed by boils, having forty on her head at one time, and more on her body. Then her skin started to dry up, and it became so bad she could not shut her eyes to sleep. One month's treatment with Cuticura Soap and Ointment made a complete cure, and now my child is as large, strong, and healthy as any child of her age. The doctor's and drug bills were over one hundred dollars, and my baby grew worse all the time. Then we spent less than five dollars for Cuticura and cured her."

CUTICURA A BLESSING To Skin-Tortured Babies and Tired Mothers.

Uncleanliness in Milk.

Writing in the October "Delineator" under the topic "Safe Foods and How to Get Them," Mary Hinman Abel has some interesting remarks on milk and the necessity of cleanliness in its production and marketing. "Cleanliness and cold," she says, "is the whole secret in the production of pure milk. Cleanliness applied to dairying means the exclusion of all possible foreign organism from whatever source: it means the clean stable, the groomed cow, the covered milk pail, the separate room for straining, the washed and scalded utensils. The second requirement, cold, is probably still more important: it means, to begin with, rapid cooling in the first hour, for fairly clean milk allowed to cool slowly may contain more bacteria on reaching the consumer than dirty milk which has been promptly brought down to forty or forty-five degrees by ice or spring water. At this temperature the bacteria increase very slowly, sometimes even decrease in the first day, but if the temperature is high the rate of growth is enormous. Millions are frequently found in city milk produced under filthy conditions and transported in un-iced cars. It is not, however, the number but the character of the bacteria that is of importance. As is often said, city milk of a poor grade may contain more bacteria than the city sewage, but it by no means follows that the milk is as dangerous as the sewage. But the presence of hundreds of thousands of these comparatively harmless organisms bears witness to ignorant and careless methods that may also allow entrance to the many objectionable varieties that produce slimy milk, bitter milk, and putrid milk, and also to the dangerous disease-producing germs: hence the chief reason for reducing the bacterial count to the lowest possible limit.

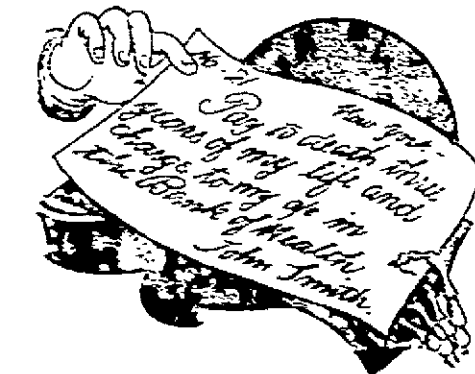

A Century's Supply of Lumber.

The lumber camps in the timber region of the Pacific are all of obviously temporary character. The buildings, consisting of a "mess house" or dining room, "bunk house" or sleeping quarters, shops, stables, etc., are all of rough construction. The work is as arduous as in any lumber camps in the world and the woodsman are splendid physical types. A long working day is the rule in the woods. The cooks and their assistants begin the preparation of the breakfast about three o'clock in the morning, and by daylight the crews are on their way to the woods, where they labor with scant respite until daylight has faded into dusk.

In speaking of the recent marvelous expansion of the lumber industry of the Pacific Coast, it will not do to pass over the development of the market, and particularly the foreign market for these products. Last year nearly five million five hundred thousand dollars' worth of timber was shipped from Puget Sound to Great Britain alone, and heavy shipments went to Mexico, Central and South America, Germany, Spain, France, Holland, Cuba, Belgium and China. Yet only a small fraction of the total product of these forests is sold abroad: at present the bulk of this timber harvest is disposed of in the prairie states of our Middle West: but as lumber resources in other parts of the country are exhausted, the entire nation will come to depend more and more upon this marvelous Western wilderness. Apparently there is no immediate need for fear of a lumber famine, since government officials estimate that this, the greatest of nature's woodland storehouses, contains a supply sufficient for more than a century, at the present rate of cut.—Pearson's Magazine for Oct.

The Real Sahara.

The Sahara is not at all as popular belief pictures it, a vast plain of moving sand, dotted here and there with fertile oases, somewhat like a leopard's skin. From Tunis westward it is a vast depression of sand and clay not much above sea-level, in some parts Biliousness, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, disturbed sleep, nervousness, headache, giddiness and drowsiness, wind and pain or fullness of the stomach after meals, cold chills and flushings of heat, shortness of breath—these are the blank cheques of physical bankruptcy.

The man who suffers from these disorders and neglects them will soon be in the relentless grasp of some fatal disease. If he is naturally narrow chested and shallow lunged, it will probably be consumption; if his father or mother died of paralysis or some nervous trouble, it will probably be nervous exhaustion or prostration, or even insanity; if there is a taint in the family blood, it will be blood or skin disease; if he lives in a new or a low, swampy country, it will be malaria; if he lives a life of exposure, it may be rheumatism. There is one safe course for a man to follow who finds himself the victim of any of the above symptoms described. It is to resort to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine makes the appetite keen, corrects all disorders of the digestion, renders assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood and builds firm, healthy flesh and nerve tissue. It cures almost all diseases that result from insufficient or improper nourishment of the brain and nerves. Bronchitis, throat, and even lung affections, when not too far advanced, readily yield to it.

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "P. P." is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Don't let a selfish seller over-persuade you to accept a substitute for these Original Little Pellets. Buy first put up by Dr. J. C. R. Pierce, and never equalled.

One disease of thinness in children is scrofula; in adults, consumption. Both have poor blood; both need more fat. These diseases thrive on leanness. Fat is the best means of overcoming them: cod liver oil makes the best and healthiest fat and is the easiest and most effective form of cod liver oil. Here's a natural order of things that shows why Scott's Emulsion is of so much value in all cases of scrofula and consumption. More fat, more weight, more nourishment, that's why.

perfectly level, in others hilly, with low depressions containing water saltier than the sea, which generally evaporates, leaving a coating of brilliant crystals which appear like snow in the distance. The rivers from the Aures Mountains on the north serve to irrigate the oases of the Ziban; sometimes they flow above the surface, but often below it. There is a fascination about the desert that is indescribable and which none can understand unless they have spent several weeks with a caravan. At times the heat is very great, but being perfectly dry, it does not enervate as our humid atmosphere does at a temperature forty degrees lower. Near midday the desert appears to be a molten sea of dazzling, vibrating light. Now and then the mirage appears and the tired eyes of the stranger are refreshed with visions of beautiful lakes near the horizon, even sometimes of trees and moving caravans. Alas! this is a case where seeing is not believing. After many disappointments of this kind, the camels suddenly raise their heads and snuff the air through their curiously formed nostrils and move at a quicker pace, instinct telling them that water is near. In the far distance a low black line indicated palm trees, and in a few hours the oasis of Sidi Okba appeared, distinctly relieving the doubts of those who feared it was only a mirage. Our dragoon kicked off his slippers and climbed very nimbly up a fine palm to get some of the luscious fruit growing at the top.—From "Shrines of the Desert," by D. F. Elmdorf, in October "Scribner's."

Bad Boys Reclaimed.

"The state of Ohio was the first in point of time and is now the first in point of importance," says Eugene Wood, who describes "A School for Boys," in "Everybody's" for October, "to see that it is fiendish folly to try to make a good boy out of a bad boy by shutting him up in a stinking jail, on low diet, in utter idleness, and in the company of the most dissolute ruffians to be found on earth. Of all crazy and cruel notions that the devil himself has succeeded in lodging firmly in men's minds that is positively the limit. There would be some sense in taking a bad boy out in the back yard and chopping his head off, because that would reform him permanently; but to expect to make him anything else than an Apache by putting him into jail is nothing but insanity, as you can readily see. Nevertheless, that is, or was, the standard and approved method.

"But the state of Ohio wouldn't just muddle a dog doing a crazy thing because everybody else was doing a crazy thing. Investigation showed that the 'Rauhe Haus' near Hamburg, Germany, was working on sensible lines for the reformation of bad boys, and in 1858 the first school in America for reforming such youth, with the prison part left out, was begun near Lancaster, Ohio. It is the 'Rauhe Haus' idea clear through: the cottage system, the teaching the boys useful trades, the building up of their bodies so that they have the physical strength to control themselves. The title 'Elder Brother' for the head of each cottage is borrowed from the 'Rauhe Haus,' and the land is even hilly, as it is in the German institution.

The Heroic Age of American Transportation.

Charles F. Lummis begins in the October "McClure's" "Pioneer Transportation in America: Its Curiosities and Its Romance." Pioneer days for Mr. Lummis do not begin with the prairie schooner; he goes a few thousand years further back and knocks into better perspective our latter-day view of the blessings of civilization. In the virile, clear-cut English of the Westerner he tells with absorbing interest, some astonishing facts of America's little known antiquity.

It is a subject on which the writer is, perhaps, the foremost authority and his narrative is crowded with curious information, gathered during years of research, of America's heroic days.

"In our bigness," says Mr. Lummis, "it does not pay to despise the day of small things. Though they had centuries in place of decades in which to do it, there is some pignancy in remembering that in the total history of transportation in America more treasure has been carried on mules and on 'Peruvian sheep'—more even on men—than on railroads!"

Cigarette Smoking.

It is an appalling fact that one of the most gigantic evils we have to fight in our land today is that of cigarette smoking. It strikes at the root of our nation's hope, our boys, as it undermines their health and their reason.

President Roosevelt has never used tobacco in any form as a letter to the Loyal Legion paper, "The Crusader Monthly," tells:

EX. MANSION, Washington, D. C. The President does not and never has used tobacco in any form.

Yours very truly, Wm. Loeber, Sec. to Pres.

Boys who use cigarettes find all places of trust closed to them. It is a fact that one who is addicted to the use of cigarettes cannot be trusted, testimonials without number might be given to prove this fact.

In our schools it has been proven that the boys who fail in their examinations are generally cigarette smokers.

In the juvenile courts it is stated 99 out of every hundred boys tried for crime have the cigarette stain on their finger tips.

A little four-year-old made the following reply to his mother: "I really must have our kitchen range cleaned, I smoke so," said Mrs. Housewife. "Mamma," said the boy, "don't you think papa would better be cleaned out? He smokes too."

We have cigarette laws and good ones. We could aid our nation by seeing that they are enforced, just as much as those who go to the front and fight in the ranks.

In a graduating class in Kansas ten boys out of twenty-one failed entirely in their examinations and every one of these ten boys were cigarette fiends. This is only one example of many in which the boys are not able to keep up with their companions in school. Where will our statesmen, our men of the future come from, if such a condition be allowed to continue.

If all our boys would take the stand of the following little fellow there would be much less cigarette smoking which injures health, reason and steals away trustworthiness. He was accosted by a man on the street with the offer of a cigarette. "Have a cigarette, sonny." "No, thank you," was the definite reply, "not any for me." "Why not," persisted the man, "I cannot," persisted the boy with equal firmness, "I know too much." M.T.P.

Women and the Public Schools.

"The New Idea Woman's Magazine" for October has an inspiring article on "Women in Professions," by Miss Elizabeth Howard Westwood. Miss Westwood runs over the field of those professions into which women enter, showing that there are now very few in which they have not proved their capability. Speaking of the educational field, which is, as ever, one of those most entered by women, she says: "Some of the most remarkable educational work is being done by women in connection with the public schools. Miss Farrell, whose class of unmanageable children is well known is little short of wonderful. Boys who have proved too much for school after school, teacher after teacher, never give her the slightest trouble. Children who have been given up as hopeless idlers, learn to read under her tutelage, and take the first step toward fitting for a trade. She is an enthusiast and an optimist, declaring that she has yet to see the child too stupid to become self-supporting, or too bad to be reached by kind, firm treatment."

With the Empress Dowager.

Miss Katharine A. Carl enjoys the unique distinction of being the first person from the western world in all history who has been received into the intimacy of the Chinese imperial palaces. Miss Carl painted four portraits of the famous Empress Dowager of China, and for nearly a year resided at court, attended all fetes, and saw the Empress Dowager, on terms of pleasant and intimate companionship, almost daily. She has written the story of her experiences, the first chapters of which will be published in the October "Century," together with Miss Carl's portrait of the Empress Dowager, of which the original is now in the National Museum at Washington. Portrait sketches of the young Empress, the secondary wife of the Emperor, and other ladies, with drawings made by Miss Carl illustrating scenes at court, will accompany the article.

When Alexander asked his aunt what grew on an electric plant, she answered, with some haste I fear,

"Why, currents I suppose, my dear."

PLUMMER'S PUBLIC RECORD REVEALED AND RENUNCIATION OF CRIMES DEMANDED

Distinguished Republican Lawyer Calls For a Statement From the Candidate of His Party On Salient Questions.

On August 30 Henry C. Niles, Esq., a distinguished lawyer and steadfast Republican, of York, Pa., addressed a letter on behalf of himself and his associates in the Lincoln Party, to Hon. J. Lee Plummer, Republican machine nominee for State Treasurer, propounding certain questions with respect to Mr. Plummer's public life and requesting categorical answers. The questions are pertinent, and as a stalwart Republican Mr. Niles had a right to the information and declarations which he sought. More than three weeks have elapsed since the letter was received by Mr. Plummer, and as "silence gives consent," his failure to reply is confession of the accuracy of the statements it contained.

Following is the full text of the letter which has not been answered:

"YORK, PA., August 30th, 1905.

"Hon. J. Lee Plummer, Republican nominee for State Treasurer. "Dear Sir—Because you have been nominated by the Republican convention for the office of State Treasurer, I feel that I may not be taking undue liberty in venturing to address to you this communication on behalf of myself and some others who have requested me to attempt to give voice to their thought at this time.

"For ourselves and on behalf of many other Republican voters who we believe are similarly interested, we desire to call your attention to some facts and current impressions, and ask an expression from you that may be useful to the voters in determining their action at the fall election.

"There have been rumors that heretofore the State Treasury has been used for partisan and personal advantage; that the selection of banks as depositories has been dictated by the persons controlling the Republican Organization for political considerations, and sometimes for private gain.

Record Not at All Reassuring.

"What we have learned about your record and associations does not fully assure us that in your hands such abuses would be impossible.

"You were a member of the Legislature of 1903.

"We are informed that during that session you voted for all of what were known as the Machine legislation and grab bills, and as chairman of the Elections Committee were active in unseating the two Democratic members, Blumie, of Cameron, and Ferry, of Luzerne, against all evidence, and at the close of the session, in order that Republican contestants, without right, might get the salaries and perquisites of office.

"It was said that this proceeding was so rankly partisan that it was opposed and condemned even by such stalwarts as McClain and Cooper.

"You were a member of the last House of Representatives, and are credited with 'going along' with the Penrose-Durham Machine.

"You ranged yourself against the indorsement of President Roosevelt's plans to relieve the people from the crying injustice of railroad discriminations and rebates.

"You were opposed to any action for personal registration, in preparation for which the Constitution had been amended, and which was urged by the Governor and the best elements of the State.

"You were antagonistic to the effort to introduce into our civil service the merit system of appointment and promotion, that has done so much for the purification of politics in the Federal service and in other States, and to which the Republican party of the nation is irrevocably committed.

"You voted for the villainous Puhl bill, designed to cripple societies for the prevention of vice; for the infamous Erhardt bills, for the protection of the white slave traders, and for the Philadelphia ripper bills, the only possible purpose of which could be to rivet upon that city the chains of an organization of public plunderers.

Oath to Obey the Constitution Forgotten.

"You took a solemn oath to obey the Constitution of the Commonwealth.

"The Governor called your attention to your sworn duty to re-portion the State.

"You did nothing.

"The same Constitution which you had sworn to 'support, obey and defend' made it your duty 'to enforce by appropriate legislation' the provisions of the seventh article.

"Not only did you do nothing to fulfill this oath-bound obligation, but you are said to have accepted and used free passes issued by lawless corporations in deliberate defiance of the eighth section of that article.

"If the above stated, currently reported allegations are true, you can hardly expect the vote of the citizens who are not tainted by partisan poison.

"If you really did knowingly violate your oath as Representative, what security can you give that you will not be equally false as treasurer?

"If you gave all of your influence as Legislator for the assistance of the 'criminal combination masquerading under the name of Republicans,' what guarantee can you give us that you will not turn over the contents of the State Treasury to their loving care?

"We desire to be entirely just to you. If these statements are incorrect, and you have been misrepresented by rumor and newspaper reports; or if the Assembly's minutes, that we have been informed sometimes recorded you as present and voting when you were really miles away, have been fraudulently kept in regard to all of your actions by wicked persons bent on your disgrace, we will be happy to have you inform us, and we will gladly assist you in efforts to counteract the effect of so gross a libel.

"It is possible that you did what you did involuntarily and under the influence of that spoliator, hypnotist, that has led astray other not inherently bad men.

"You may not have really known what was going on, but were deluded to consider yourself an irresponsible agent of an irresistible political force, and that your only function was to receive and carry out instructions from your masters in conclave at the mansion on the Harrisburg river front.

"You may not have known, as did none of us, the full measure of the depravity and dishonest purpose of the men who had stolen the livery of the party of Lincoln and Roosevelt for the service of the graft devil.

"You are surely now, informed of their baseness and of that treachery and fraud that has been recently so clearly revealed as to stifle all pretense of denial.

"If, notwithstanding your unfortunate past, you are still in fibre an honest and patriotic man, such as only would be qualified to administer the millions of the people's money, you will now repudiate all connection and sympathy with the grafters, and do it with all the more indignant vehemence because they have so grossly deceived you to your dishonor.

"It will, of course, be unpleasant to admit that you were so simple minded as not to discern the dishonesty and impropriety of the schemes in which you were made a tool; but it would be better for your lasting fame to go down to history as the dupe rather than as the accomplice of the public enemy, or the accessory after the fact of their admitted sordid crimes.

"If you can take this position: if you can conscientiously affirm that you were only careless and negligent; if you can plead ignorance of the true character and wicked purposes of those you have heretofore served, your fellow citizens, while pitying your former imbecility, will admire your manly frankness and may consider the excuse.

Not Too Late For Repentance.

"If you will forever renounce all further relations with Durham, forsake Penrose and all his works, read the Constitution of your Commonwealth and pledge yourself to give the remnant of your days to fulfillment of your often-taken and as often-disregarded oath for its support; if you will go all this as publicly and immediately as you have sinned openly and incessantly there will be joy from Dixie's line to the New York border as over one sinner that repenteth.

"You may be able to give some other defense; if so we will gladly consider it.

"If you succeed in convincing your fellow citizens either that the material allegations in regard to your record herein referred to are untrue, or that there is some valid excuse for them; or, that you are entitled to be absolved on the ground of ignorance, and, with contrition for your past, you now sincerely intend to take your stand on the side of the people in the fight with the spoliators, they may conclude to confide to you the treasury of the State.

"If you will favor me with a speedy answer, I shall, with your permission, give it as much publicity as this letter may receive.

"Trusting that under the circumstances this letter will not be considered an unwarrantable intrusion, and with respect, which I hope will be greatly increased by the temper and matter of your reply, I remain sincerely yours.

"HENRY C. NILES."

A FASCINATING MAN

(Original.)
Douglas Medway and his sister Clara were orphans. Douglas was ambitious both for himself and his sister. He wished to become a merchant in the city and was desirous that Clara, who was a charming girl, should marry a city man. His plan was to sell the farm and set up a country store. This would take him to the city to buy goods, where he would make the acquaintance of business men through whom he would gradually work his way into a wider field. Some of these acquaintances he might introduce to Clara, and among them she might find a husband.

Douglas carried out his plan. Before starting to the city his sister warned him to beware of city people and remember that he was not versed in city ways. To this he replied that he had letters to the firm of Burt & Richardson and would rely on them for advice.

Burt & Richardson were wholesale grocers. Douglas was received by Mr. Richardson, who said to him:

"You have goods to buy in so many different lines that you had better take one of our clerks to show you where you can buy cheapest. At the same time you can sound the market for your groceries, and we will do as well or better than you can do elsewhere."

Douglas gladly accepted the offer, and the clerk who was sent with him, Elbert Adams, put him right into the way of securing bargains, and by 4 o'clock all but the groceries had been purchased. Douglas had found Adams strictly a business man and was much relieved on returning to the store to be introduced to a Mr. Merriman, who he understood had just dropped in and whose geniality captivated the young countryman at once. Mr. Merriman seemed to take to Douglas and sat chatting with him while the others attended to business.

"Merriman," said Mr. Richardson, "we are very busy just now and can't give Mr. Medway the attention he needs. Can't you devote yourself to him this evening?"

"I shall be most happy," said the genial Merriman.

The evening was a revelation to the young merchant. He saw the sights of the city in the most delightful fashion. He tried to pay his share of the expense, but Merriman would wink at the cashiers and remark to Douglas, "Wait till I go to your place, then it will be you who shall do the paying."

Douglas became confidential, showing his new friend a photograph of his sister. Merriman at once went into raptures over it, declaring the face to be the most beautiful he had ever seen. Then a secret desire crept into Douglas' breast. Merriman was just the match he would like for Clara.

The next morning Merriman spoke of the picture in such terms that Elbert Adams asked to see it. He gazed at it for some time, then handed it back without a word. Douglas would have been disappointed had he not been satisfied with Merriman's enthusiasm.

Douglas, having completed his purchases, hurried home to tell Clara that he had made the friend of his life, who had fallen in love with her picture and was dying to see her. He was to come up soon, when Douglas would return the favors he had received, but must necessarily do so in his own house. This would throw Merriman and Clara together.

Week after week passed, but nothing was heard of Mr. Merriman. Douglas was disappointed. When October came he wrote inviting Merriman to come up and make them a visit. The letter was answered by the firm, saying that Merriman was very busy. A few days later young Elbert Adams walked into the store in shooting costume and said he was on his way to his shooting club. Douglas invited him to supper, and from the moment he and Clara met they seemed desperately pleased with each other.

Adams did not get away to his shooting for several days, remained there but a short time and when he came back spent several days more in the company of Clara Medway. Douglas was troubled. He did not relish the idea of his sister taking a fancy to a mere clerk. He wished to keep her for the fascinating Merriman.

During the winter there was not a holiday that Adams did not appear and spend the whole of it with Clara. The more Douglas thought about the matter the more he was surprised. The man who had fallen in love with the picture had not taken the trouble to see the original. The man who had made no comments on the picture had fallen in love with the original.

One evening Douglas went home from the store and found Adams and Clara together. Indeed, they were very near together—they were in each other's arms. Adams on becoming aware of Douglas' presence said to him:

"Do you remember showing me your sister's picture in the city on your visit there?"

"Yes, and you made no comment on it."

"Still waters run deep; I fell in love with it. I vowed that I would seek out its original and win her if possible. I have done both and nothing remains but your consent."

"Clara can speak for herself—that is, if you are able."

"I am now a member of the firm of Burt & Richardson."

"I confess," said Douglas, "that I always hoped that Mr. Merriman—"

"Merriman? Why Merriman is our professional entertainer. The firm pays him a salary and all he spends on our customers. Besides, he's a married man."

"Well, I'll be hanged!" exclaimed Douglas. HARRIET CAWLEY.

Great Ball Game.

It was a great pleasure to witness the great base ball game on last Saturday between Athletics and Chicago, the two leading teams in the American League. We will confess to a hope, that amounted almost to a conviction, that Eddie Plank was going to win the game for the Athletics, and though it was lost by a score of 4 to 3, it was magnificent ball.

The crowd broke all records in Philadelphia that ever attended a ball game, 26,000. Though on the grand stand an hour before game was called the best position was second and third row standing back of all the seats, yet it was a fine point to watch the game.

The thousands and thousands of base ball enthusiasts were simply crazy over Eddie. When he made his first appearance they gave him an ovation, of shouts and cheering and everything he did met with the same reception. The camera men grabbed and shot him. On every side could be heard.

"Is that Plank?" "there's Eddie," "Eddie's the stuff," and wherever he showed up shouts greeted him.

It was the same thing after the game began. That big audience had pinned their faith to Eddie and some of his pitches called balls would have been called strikes if it had been left to the audience. Even when Chicago was a point or two ahead the crowd was Eddie's. They spoke of his head work, called him great and it wasn't his fault but because hits could not be batted that kept the Athletics from winning.

It was Plank's 40th game for this season, of which he has won 25, lost 12 and 3 tied or not finished.

Dear Sir: We know what the paints are all made of, you know we have to. In Wilson, N. C., are two dealers. One of 'em thinks he can't sell paint for more than $1 a gallon; the other won't have such stuff in his store—sells Devco lead-and-zinc, of course.

The $1 paint is adulterated 75 per cent.; Devco is all lead and zinc and linseed oil, with as little good dryer as possible. A gallon Devco has in it a little more paint than four gallons of the other. A gallon Devco will cover as much as four of the other. Who wants to pay wages for painting four gallons for one?

How much is Devco lead-and-zinc worth in that town?

Yours truly

The Compiler has prepared a number of pictures in the county for early insertion, but election interests will crowd them out during the present month.

Saturday, October 7, is the last day for payment of taxes to qualify the elector to vote. Let this be attended to by every one who appreciates his American sovereignty.

This Democratic County Committee will meet on next Saturday, October 7th, at 10:30 a. m. at Globe Hotel to elect a County Chairman, Secretary and transact such other business as may come before the meeting.

Wm. P. Devine,
County Chairman.
List of New Committeemen will be found on first page.

On second page will be found a review of the Gaug's candidate for State Treasurer, J. Lee Plummer. The only issue of the state campaign is whether the worst gang in the political history of this country shall be allowed to have as treasurer of this great state with the immense power it gives, their tool personified in Plummer. The true Republicans of Philadelphia following the advice of such a great leader as Secretary of State Root have repudiated the gang and their candidate, an example to be followed by citizens all over the state.

TICKET NOMINATED.

The Democratic county ticket nominated on Monday is a good one from top to bottom, entitled to the hearty support of the party and all citizens. The selection of it proved to be a veritable love feast. Since it has been made Democrats have been congratulating each other on the work of the convention and the satisfaction the ticket gives. For every source comes assurances of a hearty harmonious support of the ticket and to demonstrate that old Adams is a Democratic county. This result is largely due to the fact that the ticket was named by Democrats' or men delegates without the help of any suggestions.

Harry M. Keller of Gettysburg is a son of the late Democratic district, Henry A. Keller, and his father, J. W. Keller, and his mother, Mrs. H. A. Keller, live in that township until six years ago when he moved to Arendtsville. Everything about Harry M. Keller is straightforward, fair and square. He enjoys the highest respect. He is deeply interested in everything that concerns the farmer, being the President of the local Farmers' Institute of his town. He is a hustling business man, and has that capacity of making and keeping friends.

S. S. Neely, Esq., for District Attorney, would mean that this important office would be most carefully administered. Mr. Neely has tried many cases in the 17 years he has been at the Bar and is one of the attorneys who is known to thoroughly prepare himself before he comes into court both on the law and facts of a case. His thoroughness and ability would give a clear cut business administration of the office.

D. F. Steffy of New Oxford as Register and Recorder would demonstrate in no uncertain way that public office is a public trust. He is now serving his third term as Justice of the Peace in New Oxford and his course has been one of making peace and he has been so successful in this that he has never had a case of the many he has decided taken to court for review. He is one of the unassuming men of the world whose aim is to treat every one right and enjoys to an unusual extent the confidence and good will of the people of the county.

W. F. Gilliland for Clerk of the Courts is one of the good farmers of Cumberland township, and has devoted himself to the development of his dairy business. Among the characteristics of Mr. Gilliland is faithfulness to duty and what is right. He has most pleasing manners and as a county officer would be one who would excel as an attentive, obliging and competent officer.

Charles B. Dougherty for County Treasurer, has been the polite and courteous clerk for over 20 years in the dry goods store of G. W. Spangler. He is a hustling campaigner. Mr. Dougherty's life has been one of fidelity, his habits have been simple and economical and for the responsible position for which he has been named the county would be assured of a fidelity to duty and trust such as he has shown in his whole life.

Alex. H. Rebert of Union township and John C. Group of Huntington township are two successful farmers. They have given that attention to the management of their farms which has made them pay. Mr. Rebert has lived 12 years of the 51 years of his life in Mountpleasant township. Mr. Group, born in Tyrone township, has lived 33 years of the 55 years of his life in Huntington township. With these two men as Commissioners it can be depended upon that there will be no loose business methods in the management of one of the most important offices in the county. As they have done in their own business they will do for the county, watch the little as well as the big things and give the county an economical administration within its income.

David A. Conover for Director of the Poor was a resident of Mt. Joy township for 65 years before moving to Straban township less than a year ago. Mr. Conover is one of the veterans of the Civil war, having enlisted in Co. G, 74th Pa. Regt. and was on duty guarding bridges along the B. & O. R. R. toward the close of the war and while so engaged met with an accident which kept him on crutches, or over three years. He has been a careful manager all his life, conscientious and charitable and would give the Alms-house most capable management.

Jerome Decker, born in Oxford township, has been a respected citizen of Hamilton township for 52 years and Harry B. Beard, born in Hamilton township 36 years ago has been a good citizen of Highland township for 15 years. Mr. Decker, as a school director for 10 years and township clerk for 8 years and Mr. Beard by the intelligent management of his farm have shown themselves to be such men who will carefully audit the accounts of the public offices and hold all officials to a strict standard of faithfulness.

Dr. H. M. Hartman, as one of the leading physicians of Gettysburg, would make a highly efficient Coroner.

An Ugly Intruder.

Monday evening Wallace Ziegler went into his stable at rear of his lot on West Middle street and surprised a big man there. With an oath the latter jumped at him striking out his arm. Mr. Ziegler jumped to the side missing the blow and man escaped from barn. In the darkness Mr. Ziegler did not recognize his would-be assailant.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.) (Save the Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

L. T. L. Meeting.

The Walter Loyal Temperance Legion held an interesting meeting at the home of Miss Alice L. Black near Flora Dale, Saturday evening, September 16. After the usual opening exercises, business, etc., the superintendents of departments were heard in regard to work done since last meeting. Those of Press and Flower Mission, the latter having sent several hundred bouquets and a large basket of grapes to the Harrisburg hospital since last meeting. Flowers are also sent to the homes for aged people.

This seems an easy work and doing little, but the maidens watch each week for the flowers, and save the ribbons and text cards from the bouquets to enjoy after the flowers are faded.
One old lady in the home over 50 years of age has kept every thing the Loyal Legion ever gave her and takes great pleasure in displaying them. Among them is a pledge card which she signed five years ago.

C. Arthur Griest and Wallace V.
Peters were chosen captains of the "Question Bee" which was held instead of the usual literary program.
The following questions, taken from the Manual of L. T. L. Study were among those asked: 1. Is this a free government? Yes. 2. Is then a person free in this country to engage in any business he may choose? He is free to do any business that does not injure others. 3. Is he free to make gun powder, dynamite and poison?
To a certain extent, but he is not free to sell them to everybody. 4. If it is right for the Government to interfere with selling dangerous things, ought it not to prevent the sale of intoxiciating liquors? 5. Does the Government do anything to prevent the sale of alcohol? It forbids the sale to Indians on the frontier and prohibits the sale of distilled liquor at army posts.
After a social hour and refreshments
the alumni adjourned to meet in Oct.
at the home of C. Arthur Griest.
